

Cambridge FCE & CAE Preparation Course Information 2008

Course time: 9 to 1 p.m., Monday to Friday, 20 lessons per week.

One lesson is 50 minutes of teaching time.

The maximum number of students in the class is 12.

The textbook for the course is included in the course fees.

The exam registration fee is not included in the course price.
To enrol via the school the fee is approximately £100.

If a student who enrolls for the CAE course fails the level test on arrival, they will be offered a place on the FCE course instead. Conversely, a student who enrolls for the FCE course may be recommended to join the CAE course based on performance on arrival. If a student who enrolls for the FCE course fails the level test on arrival or fails to keep up with the course, they will be offered a place on a General English course instead.

Students who enrol for the 6-week course will study in the same class as students who are studying the full 9-week course. For this reason the 6-week course is only suitable for stronger candidates, and the entry level test will be accordingly more stringent.

In the event that there are fewer than 4 students, the FCE and CAE courses will not be merged, however the courses will have reduced hours. This should not harm the student's progress because of the extra teacher attention that students receive in a very small group, and this system allows Tti School to guarantee that the course will run regardless of the number of students who enrol.

If there are only 3 students, the course will be 3 lessons per day.

If there are only 2 students, the course will be 2 lessons per day.

If there is only 1 student, the course will be 1 lesson per day.

Students have all-day access to the study materials, listening stations and study desks in the study lounge for homework and extra exam practice.

If the hours are reduced the course may be taught in the afternoon instead.

The school will help the students apply for their examination, which will be held at an exam centre in London. The exam enrolment deadline may be before the course start date, so early booking is recommended. If in doubt please check with the school.
